

JOURNAL OF COMPARATIVE POLICY ANALYSIS: RESEARCH & PRACTICE

CALL FOR PAPERS

Journal of Comparative Policy Analysis: Research & Practice aims to stimulate the further intellectual development of comparative policy studies and the growth of an international community of scholars in the field. It gives priority to comparative studies that:

1. Contribute to comparative theory development;
2. Present theory-based empirical research;
3. Offer comparative evaluations of research methods;
4. Derive the practice implications of theory-based research;
5. Use conceptual heuristics to interpret practice;
6. Draw lessons based on circumstances in which the domains compared have certain manipulable policy, program or institutional variables in common.

Now published five times per year from 2010, the JCPA is the only explicitly comparative journal of policy studies. It invites manuscripts that address public policy analysis and related public administration and management in this unique manner.

The JCPA encourages the submission of articles advancing comparative policy studies in public policy fields as diverse as immigration, health care, environmental protection, education, biotechnology, security or human rights, technology, public finance and budgeting, administrative reform, performance measurement, and others. The Journal welcomes proposals for Special Symposia Issues, as well as submissions to its sections on Comparative Policy Innovation and Policy Statistics.
